PROGRAMME

WEDNESDAY 15TH: KETEKE (GHANA, 2017)

DIRECTED BY : PETER SEDUFIA

It's the 80s rail service system, and the train is the only means of transport from the outskirts. A couple - BOI (Adjetey Anang) and Atswei (Lydia Forson) is bent on delivering their first baby in Akete but misses their train and finds them in the middle of nowhere. Will they make it on time for the delivery, or, risk losing the baby and mother?

THURSDAY 16TH: RAFIKI (KENYA, 2018)

DIRECTED BY: WANURI KAHU

In Nairobi, Kena and Ziki lead two very different high school girls' lives, but both in their own way seek to pursue their dreams. They meet in the middle of an election campaign during which their respective fathers clash. Attracted to each other in a conservative Kenyan society, the two young women will be forced to choose between love and security.

FRIDAY 17TH: THE MERCY OF THE JUNGLE (RWANDA, FRANCE, BELGIUM, 2017)

AWARDS:

FESPACO WINNER 2019

PRIZE FOR MALE INTERPRETATION TO MARC ZINGA DIRECTED BY: JOËL KAREKEZI

In the Kivu jungle, Sergeant Xavier, Rwandan war heroes, and the young soldier Faustin are in enemy territory where they are fighting a fuzzy war. When they lose their battalion, they found themselves alone and without resources in the Congolese jungle.

Caught in the grip of the fighting that rages all around them, they sink into the forest. In search of water and food, they are exposed to ubiquitous hostility. Above all, they must face their own demons.

All films are in their original version with English subtitles.
