EDITO

Fall is on the way and the Alliance Française is undergoing great changes. New security equipment will improve the safety of everyone, while the new restaurant «La Brasserie» will satisfy all tastes with its French brasserie menu and a wide choice of pizzas.

On the cultural side, a rich and varied program: academic with a conference on the relations between the French West Indies and Ghana, patrimonial with the commemoration of November 11, musical and choreographic with a Hip Hop show of the Martinican choreographer David Milôme or the big concert from the rising artist Wiyaala ... and even festive and family with a Christmas party on Saint Nicholas day.

L'automne avance et l'Alliance française entame de grands changements. Un nouvel équipement de contrôle améliorera la sécurité de tous, tandis que le nouveau restaurant « La Brasserie » satisfera tous les goûts avec sa carte de brasserie française et de pizzas.

Côté culture, un programme riche et varié : universitaire avec un colloque sur les relations entre les Antilles françaises et le Ghana, patrimonial avec la commémoration du 11 novembre, musical et dansant avec le spectacle de Hip Hop du chorégraphe martiniquais David Milôme ou le grand concert de l'artiste montante Wiyaala et même festif et familial avec une soirée de Noël le jour de la Saint Nicolas.

NWFF 2018 is the second edition of the festival. This year the NWFF changed the target and focus of the festival by widening the net to reach out to women filmmakers worldwide. This 3 day festival will highlight over 30 plus stories from all over the world. Films like "Potato Potahto", "Les Saignantes" "Life of Esteban" will be shown. Special guest film maker Jean Pierre Bekolo will be available to share some insights on the art of film-making.

Le Ndiva Women's Film Festival (NWFF) 2018 est la deuxième édition du festival. L'édition 2017 ciblait les femmes cinéastes africaines et les femmes cinéastes de descendance africaine. Cette année, le NWFF a modifié sa cible. Ce festival de 3 jours mettra en lumière plus de 30 histoires du monde entier. Des films comme "Potato Potahto", "Les Saignantes" mais aussi "Life of Esteban" seront projetés. Le talentueux cinéaste Jean-Pierre Bekolo sera invité pour partager son expertise sur l'art de la réalisation de films.

In the wake of the symposium «Ghana and transatlantic diasporas», which has been a success in the public and academic arena, Institut Français Ghana and Alliance Française Accra are organizing a seminar; «Ghana in the diasporas: Historic linkages between French Antilles and Ghana». Panelist for the seminar include distinguished personalities such as Pap Ndiaye, Dominique Rogers and Kangni Alem who will speak on the themes of African and Ghanaian diasporas as well as the phenomenon of «Returnees».

Après le colloque «Ghana and transatlantic diasporas», qui a été un succès à la fois public et académique, l'Institut français du Ghana et l'Alliance Française organisent un séminaire « Ghana in the diasporas : historic linkages between French Antilles and Ghana ». Toute la journée, des spécialistes tels que Pap Ndiaye, Dominique Rogers ou Kangni Alem interviendront autour des thématiques des diasporas africaines et ghanéennes et du phénomène des « returnees ».

CHAINS AND SHACKLES

.. THEATRE ..

It all begins in an undisturbed land of Anomansah. A village located in Elmina, present day Ghana before the arrival of the Portuguese. Daily life has been a blissful affair between Ama Ghana and her many children. It is in this beautiful land of gold and splendour, of joy and respect, of plentiful sunshine and beautiful nights that Diogo discovers Africa. Perceived as a god, he seduces Ama Ghana and Dzapata into letting their children go on a voyage unknown. A journey aboard a monstrous ship, a journey of pain, of sweat, of sorrow and of dirges.

Tout commence dans les terres calmes d'Anomansah, un village situé dans Elmina au Ghana, avant l'arrivée des Portugais. C'est dans cette belle terre que Diogo découvre l'Afrique, pleine d'or et de splendeur, de joie et de respect, de soleil abondant et de belles nuits. Perçu comme une divinité, il séduit Ama Ghana et Dzapata jusqu'à ce qu'elles donnent la permission à leurs enfants de commencer un voyage inconnu. Un voyage à bord d'un bateau monstrueux, un voyage de douleurs, de sueurs, de chagrins et détresse.

THE CENTENNIAL : WORLD WAR 1

.. FILM SCREENINGS, ART EXHIBITION ..

On November 11, 1918 at 5:15 the First World War ended, which lasted for four years, causing suffering and destruction in most of Europe and involving the whole world to different degrees. To mark this centenary, the French Embassy, the French Institute of Ghana and the Alliance Française are offering a commemorative evening around two films and an academic round table on the war in West Africa, accompanied by the exhibition «Clemenceau» of the Centenary Mission of the First World War.

Le 11 novembre 1918 à 5h15 vit la fin de la Première guerre mondiale, entraînant souffrances et destructions dans la majeure partie de l'Europe et impliquant l'ensemble du monde à des degrés divers. Pour marquer ce centenaire, l'Ambassade de France, l'Institut Français du Ghana et l'Alliance Française proposent une soirée commémorative autour de deux films et d'une table ronde universitaire sur la guerre en Afrique de l'ouest, accompagnés de l'exposition « Clemenceau » de la Mission du centenaire de la Première guerre mondiale.

AMADEUS .. FILM SCREENING ..

This Oscar awarded movie catches the life, success and troubles of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and tells the story of his rivalry with Italian composer Antonio Salieri at the court of the Austrian Emperor Joseph II. To commemorate the legacy of the movie's Czech born director, Mr. Milos Forman, who passed away earlier this year, the Embassy of the Czech Republic in Accra invites you to the screening of this very masterpiece. Amadeus, a U.S. produced film, is also a tour to the streets of historical Prague, the Czech capital, accompanied by the tones of Mozart's music.

Amadeus raconte les succès et les ennuis de Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart mais aussi l'histoire de sa rivalité avec le compositeur italien Antonio Salieri à la Cour de l'Empereur autrichien Joseph II. Pour commémorer l'héritage du réalisateur M. Milos Forman, né en République Tchèque et décédé cette année, l'Ambassade de la République tchèque au Ghana vous invite à la projection de ce chef-d'œuvre.
